DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-4, 7, and 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Carmo et al., US Patent 5,487,581. Each of the claimed limitations are shown. A handle member has a body portion with opening, as claimed. A cantilever portion having a base end and a free end is provided as shown. A hook 22 blocks at least a portion of a slot 40. At least a portion of the slot defines a well with a relatively sharp rounded edge of the hook facing the well. The claimed method is inherent to the design.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Carmo in view of Kosteniuk, US Patent 5,645,306. Carmo does not explicitly teach first and second hook positions as claimed. Kosteniuk teaches at least first and second positions of the hook portion 26 relative to body portion 22, for the purpose of achieving a capturing and releasing function of a bag handle portion in area 38. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made for one skilled in the art to have included in the design in of Carmo such a modification, as taught by Kosteniuk, for the purpose of achieving a capturing and releasing function of a bag handle portion within the well of the slot.

5. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Carmo in view of Battiato, US Patent 6,006,403. Carmo does not disclose a supplemental handle portion of a giving material, as claimed. Battiato teaches the well-known concept of a supplemental handle to act as a cushioning member. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made for one skilled in the art to have modified the design of Carmo in this way, as taught in Battiato, for the purpose of providing cushioning to the grip portion for added comfort.

6. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Carmo. Carmo does not teach the opening having a generally pentagonal shape. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the device of whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47. Such a modification solves no stated problem and would have produced no unexpected results.
